March Minutes:

Attendance: Brandy Sinco, Ragnhi Bundesmann, Berhane Seyome, Jennifer Edsall, Lori Corteville

- 1) Sarah Krein sent an email saying she was resigning her position at MDRTC and will also be resigning from DPAC. “It has been a pleasure working with you and the rest of the DaRE group.”
- 2) Next DPAC Member meeting is April 29, 2010 at the Kellogg Center in East Lansing. It was suggested that Lori take a few minutes to go over the cost analysis slides that she presented to MDCH. Also, after the DaRE call, Amy Curtis called and said she would like to have a few minutes to present her work with a student mapping diabetes care assets.
 - a) There will be a DaRE call on April 5, but no call in May since the Member meeting is around that time.
 - b) The fall Member meeting is slated for October 8, 2010.
- 3) Jean got a start on writing the translation brief for the ADA guidelines on using A1c for diabetes screening. There were some concerns that the brief was too long or too clinical, but others felt the length and language were warranted. A decision was made to move the “easy-to-read” criteria table to the first part of the brief. The brief will be resent to the group after edits are made.
 - a) Brandy asked about the availability of sensitivity cutpoint data. After the call, Lori found a recent paper examining sensitivity and specificity of the A1c for diagnosis in Diabetes Care 33(1) 101-103, 2010 (A1c and diabetes diagnosis: the Rancho Bernardo study).
 - b) In order to achieve a wide distribution, it was suggested that we have the translation brief available at the Full Membership meeting.
 - c) There was a suggestion that the next translation brief should deal with “How to do a Cost Analysis”.
- 4) Project updates:
 - a) Ragnhi – the surveys have been distributed and preliminary data are expected in roughly 3 months.
 - b) Paul Dake (given by Ragnhi) – training has expanded into family and internal medicine at McLaren. It was decided that it would be best to just get updates on Dr. Dake’s work, but not have it be a DaRE project at this time.
